No task in this world can be completed without the desire of almighty God. At the very outset, I thank Him for empowering me to walk on the path of research. It was only He who gave me adequate wisdom to complete this journey.

I feel deep reverence for my erudite supervisor Dr. Sanjiv Yadav for his highly precious suggestions, diligent corrections and constructive criticism which improved my research. I am grateful to the joint supervisor of this research Prof. (Mrs.) Rajul Bhargava under whose vision this research work could take shape. I was highly benefited by her rich experience, her scholarly guidance and her invaluable suggestions. I also thank Dr. Bir Singh Yadav the Head of the English Department for his genuine encouragement and support. I also thank all the faculty members of English Department for their help. I also wish to say thanks to my batchmates especially Mr. Subhash Yadav and Ms. Anuradha Deepak.

Some feelings cannot be expressed in words, yet I wish to say thanks to my husband Mr. Vipin Sharma who not only helped me in pursuing my research work but also tolerated my negligence in household chores. This acknowledgement can not be completed without saying thanks to my mother Mrs. Krishna Devi for always showing her faith in me.
