This work marks a realisation of one of my long cherished dreams. This dream I have nourished since I became the student of English Literature. The scholarly precincts of Central University of Haryana provided me the great environment to make this dream a reality. The great teachers at the campus provided me the platform to extend my studies and finish my project. The time spent at the campus and the guidance of the teachers, were exemplary and most valuable for me in furthering my endeavour leading to a satisfactory completion.

No words of thanks can sum up the gratitude that I owe to the Honourable Vice Chancellor, Central University of Haryana, Major General (Dr.) Ranjit Singh, AVSM, VSM (Retd.) Prof. Emeritus. He has always been a key person for inspiring the students to inculcate a learning attitude. It is from him that we learn the values of discipline and hard work that are always needed to wade through the cutting edges of research.

My heart leaps out to express a deep sense of gratitude and regards to Prof. H. S. Chandalia, Professor, Department of English, Dean, School of Language, Linguistics, Culture and Heritage, Central University of Haryana for his valuable guidance and support. He is a workaholic man, a passionate teacher and a voracious reader himself, but would cheerfully entertain me whenever I intruded in his busy schedule. He was very kind enough to make himself available whenever I needed his guidance and help. A step ahead, he would himself call me to update me with the latest journals and papers that were closely related to my project. His presence at my back always electrified my spirits. In fact, without his valuable guidance and support, it would have been very difficult for me to complete my present studies.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. Bir Singh Yadav, Associate Professor, Department of English, School of Language, Linguistics, Culture and heritage, Central University of Haryana for his motivation and support to achieve new heights of academic excellence. His support is very valuable for all the students at the campus.

I would like to thank Dr. Sanjeev Kumar, Associate Professor, Department of English, School of Language, Linguistics, Culture and Heritage, Central University of Haryana. This young and dynamic teacher always stood beside me to support me at the moments of my nervousness and doubts.

I fall short of words to express my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. Dinesh Kaushik, the Assistant Librarian, Central University of Haryana for providing me help all the time. His 24×7 hour availability for the students is extremely valuable. His ready to recall memory keeps a catalogue of the books ready for the students all the time.

I thank all the members of the office staff for their cooperation and support. They attend all the students like me with cheer and elan.

Above all, I acknowledge a great reverence and gratitude to my (late) mother, and my father for their support and impetus in my giving a break to my teaching career and move ahead with my studies further.
